

DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20340-

26 March 2004

Dear Colleague:

In 2002, the College was honored to accept a gift from the estate of the late Lieutenant General Vernon A. Walters, U.S. Army (Retired), presidential correspondence, photographs, and awards documenting a half-century career that was both distinguished and extraordinary. The Vernon A. Walters Room at the College showcases these documents and artifacts. On June 3, 2004, the College will host a conference addressing highlights in General Walters' distinguished career and his legacy. The conference will be unclassified. The program of speakers and panelists, all confirmed, will be first rate.

I would like to extend an invitation to those in your institution whose research, academic or professional interests would be furthered by joining our international group of students, scholars, practitioners and leaders of the intelligence and national security communities for a rewarding learning experience. I have included a copy of our conference program and registration form.

Due to increased security, if you do not have an active duty or retired military identification card, please include your social security number on your application. This will ensure access onto the installation.

Please contact our conference coordinators, Major Phil Oakley, 202-231-2898 or Major Che Russell, 202-231-3359, if you would like more information.

Sincerely,

A. Denis Clift
President
Joint Military Intelligence College
